

Annual conference: University of Glasgow, 30 March to 1 April

For maps of Glasgow and the conference area, see the next page. A map of the main University of Glasgow campus has been sent with these directions.

Directions to the conference

Conference registration will take place in the Glasgow University Union, which is at 32, University Avenue, G12 8LX, marked E8 on the main campus map. Teas, coffees and lunches will take place in the University Union, and the conference sessions will take place in the Gilmorehill Centre (E9) on the map and the James Watt South Building (A1).

The conference dinner will be at 1A, The Square, which is in the main building (also known as the Gilbert Scott Building). This is up the hill from the University Union, and is A9 on the map.

The plenary session on Wednesday 31 March takes place in the Sir Charles Wilson Building, marked E16 on the map.

From Glasgow International Airport

The airport is seven miles to the west of the University. There is an airport bus, the 747 AirLink, which stops at Dumbarton Road in the West End of Glasgow, near the University, and goes on into the city centre, terminating at Buchanan Bus Station. The single fare is £2.90.

The nearest station to the airport is Paisley Gilmour Street, from where there are frequent trains to Glasgow Central Station.

A taxi to the University will cost in the region of £13 to £15.

From Glasgow Prestwick International Airport

The airport is situated 22 miles south-west of the University. There is a railway station at the airport and an airport bus service to the city centre. Trains run every 45 minutes, take about 50 minutes, and the fare is around £5.

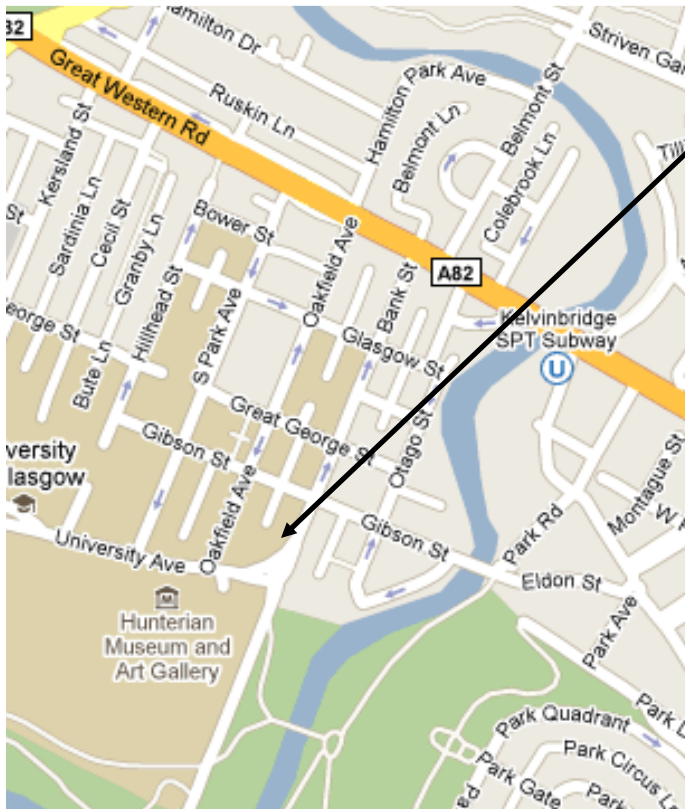

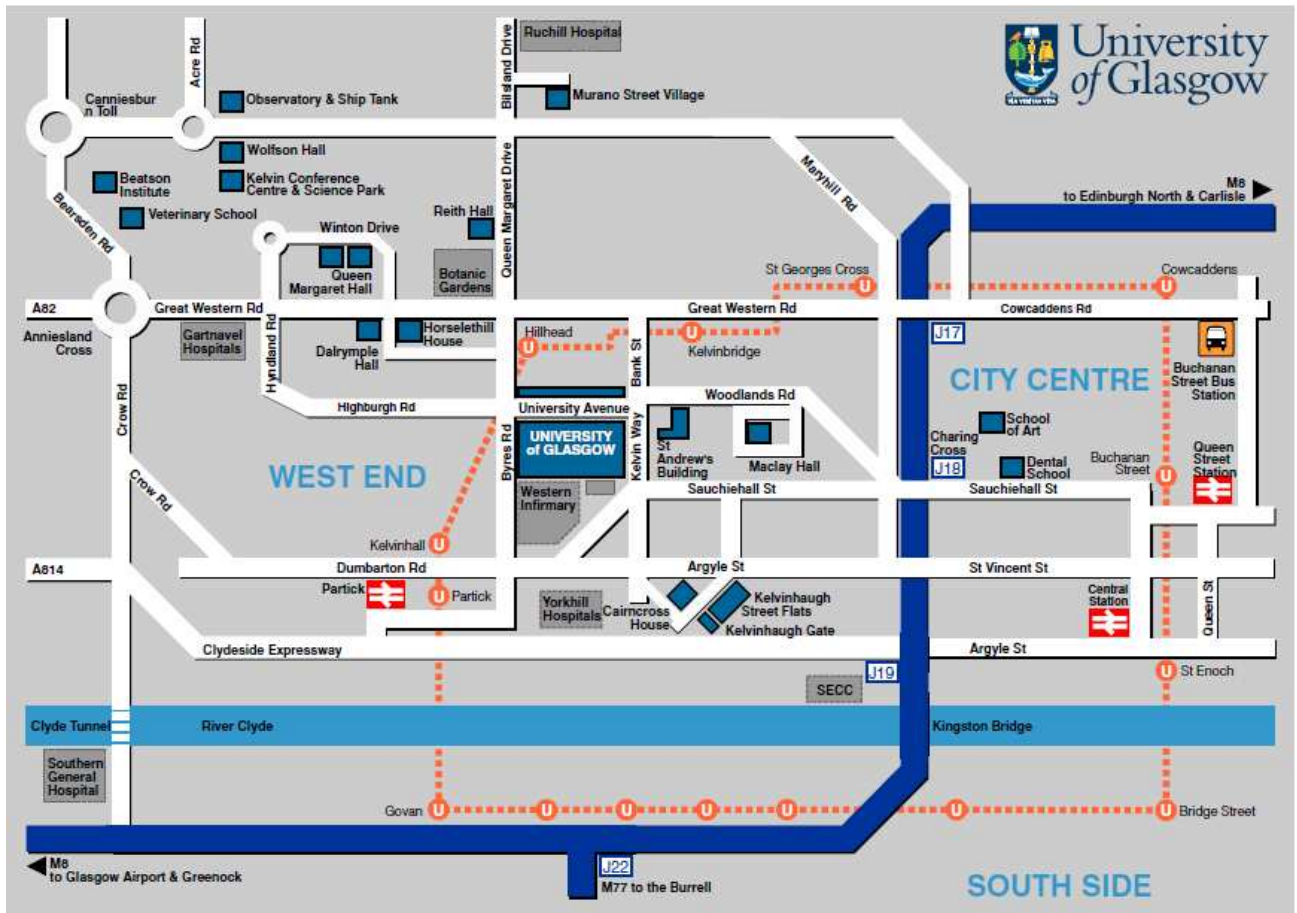

From Glasgow Central Station

A taxi from Glasgow Central Station to the University will cost about £6. Alternatively, you can walk to St Enoch or Buchanan Street underground station, and take a train (£1.20 single fare; £2.40 return) to Kelvinbridge station. This is marked on the campus map, in the top right-hand corner. From here it is a short walk to the conference venue.

The number 44 bus departs from the bus stop on the west side of Hope Street, near the main entrance to Glasgow Central, and stops right outside the Glasgow University Union on University Avenue.

From Glasgow Queen Street Station

A taxi from Glasgow Queen Street Station to the University will cost about £6. Alternatively, Queen Street offers direct access to Buchanan Street underground station. From here you can take a train (£1.20 single fare; £2.40 return) to Kelvinbridge station. This is marked on the campus map, in the top right-hand corner. From here it is a short walk to the conference venue.

The Glasgow University Union is on University Avenue, south of the junction with Gibson Street. The entrance is pictured below, with the Gilmorehill Centre (where some of the conference sessions will take place) in the foreground.

The nearest underground station is Kelvinbridge, and the number 44 bus stops outside the Union.

Glasgow University Union entrance.

Gilmorehill Centre